

Dear parents,

the law for protection against measles and for improving vaccination (Measles Protection Act) came into force on 1st March 2020. The aim of the law is to provide effective protection against measles, including amongst schoolchildren.

Pursuant to Section 20 Paragraph 10 of the German Law on the Prevention and Control of Infectious Diseases (IfSG), schoolchildren who are already attending school on 1st March 2020 must provide the school administration with evidence that they have been adequately vaccinated against measles or are immune to measles before the end of 31st July 2021. The required evidence can be provided in the following ways:

1. through a vaccination certificate ("Impfpass") or a medical certificate (also in the form of an annex to the examination booklet for children) stating that your child has adequate vaccination protection against measles, or
2. a medical certificate stating that your child is immune to measles, or
3. a medical certificate stating that your child cannot be vaccinated for medical reasons (contraindication) or
4. confirmation from a government agency or from the management of another body regulated under the law that your child was already in possession of evidence as specified under 1 or 2 above.

If you do not have either the vaccination certificate or any other certificate of vaccination against measles (e.g. annex to the examination booklet), you should contact your family doctor or paediatrician. If applicable, your child can catch up on any missing vaccinations, confirm that they have already been vaccinated (where this was not entered in the vaccination certificate), that they have already had measles or confirm their immunity status. If measles vaccination is not possible for your child due to medical reasons (contraindication), he/she may also provide a medical certificate stating the period for which the contraindication applies.

I would therefore ask you to send me one of the above-mentioned documents by 31st July 2021 at the latest. The document will be returned to you once it has been checked and approved.

Please note:

If no appropriate documents are provided, I will be legally obliged to immediately notify the health authority Landkreis Heilbronn and to provide the health authority with personal information.

The health authority may ask you to attend a consultation and decide whether a fine will be imposed!

Please keep in mind that full measles vaccination not only protects the pupils themselves against measles, but also those around them who cannot be vaccinated, such as infants or immunocompromised persons.

Further information can also be found on the website of the Federal Ministry of Health:

<https://www.bundesgesundheitsministerium.de/impfpflicht/faq-masernschutzgesetz.html>

Persons with statutory health insurance are entitled to vaccinations. This includes the recommended measles vaccinations.
